

LEAGUE OR BOLSHEVISM AND WARS

JUSTICE M. B. ROSENBERG AND
PROF. W. A. SCOTT SAY FINAN-CIAL STRUGGLE HAS JUST BEGAN

NOLAN HITS SOCIALISTS

Failure to Support Next Loan Means Wrecking United States Financial Institutions, Speaker
Declares

"Unless the United States enters some international arrangement for
the settlement of economic struggles,
we will be plunged into more war,"
said Justice M. B. Rosenberg, state supreme court, speaking before the Rock County Bar association at the Hotel last night.

Prof. W. A. Scott, University of Wisconsin economics authority, predicted world wide Bolshevism unless the United States becomes the credit nation of the world. He urged that saving be continued to make this country
and the world a fit place in which to live.

War Yet to Come

"Financially speaking, the war is before us," he said.

Assemblyman Thomas S. Nolan
savored by socialists, the state legislature for their Bolshevistic attitude.
Both Judge Rosenberg and Prof.
Scott were elected honorary members
of the association following a motion
by E. Matheson.

Nations Must Co-operate

"New problems are before us."
There is no precedent. Others are looking to us for leadership. We must give up something to get something. I have no option to offer regarding the proposed peace pact, but some international policy is vital."

Prof. Scott, speaking on "Aspects of International Reconstruction," traced the problems of foreign countries and their relation to the United States.

"Before European countries can get back to a peace basis, special payments must be made," he said. "The problem of high notes can not be redeemed. In Russia they are valueless. In France they are from 15 to 25 percent below par. European industry must be stabilized, for manufacturers are gambling under present conditions."

Europe Faces Bankruptcy

"Cases can not be levied to cover
the debt. A sufficient coin reserve does not exist. The situation is a gold in the world. The one solution to the problem is the issuing of long term bonds to retire bank and government notes."

"Foreign debts are relatively small,
but they are a huge. Sentiment will not allow their repudiation. An income tax sufficient to cover interest and provide a sinking fund is the only way out."

A redistribution of wealth will result from an income tax of enormous magnitude. Would this benefit the masses? Yes, providing they have sufficient to retain the same available capital.

"To build an economic wall around
the United States would mean to leave Europe at a standstill, to encourage Bolshevism, which would spread to this country and cause the very situation
we strive to prevent."

We must aid Europe by becoming the credit nation of the world. Since the war we have made ourselves a credit nation through saving. We must continue to do so.

"The United States faces a critical opportunity. Foreign nations are crying, 'We want you,' because here
from the United States do not mean relinquishment of power. We must continue to do so."

Next Loan is Crisis

"We must support the next loan,
and the next one. If the public packs
up, our financial institutions will be wrecked. The future is full of dangers even greater than those of the war.
Will we respond? Will the masses think for themselves? If not, the war has been a dismal failure. If so, we have a brilliant future."

Following the speeches by Prof.
Scott and Justice Rosenberg, J. A.
Craig spoke on trade relations with Canada and South America. Circuit
Judge Gorman urged the application of the golden rule to international politics. Carl Jackson, railroad commissioner, and Attorney M. G. Jeffris
commended the speakers for their talks.

BOLSHEVIKI PUSH OFFENSIVE IN RUSSIA

(By Associated Press.)
Archangel, Monday, March 3.—The Bolsheviks continue to push their offensive against the American and allied troops on the front 180 miles south of Archangel.

The Bolsheviks have headquarters here
this morning, the allies have evacuated the village of Vevsievskaya.

The allies, however, still hold their position at Vevsievskaya and the villages of Savitskaya and Kitesa.

The Americans evacuated Vevsiev-
skaya yesterday after the blockade
had been set on fire.

In the meantime the Bolsheviks continued to shell the allied positions to Tulga on the Dvina. The enemy apparently is attempting to drive the Americans from Ust Vaga and cut off
the column along the Dvina.

Naval Personnel to Get Official Testimonial

(By Associated Press.)
Washington, March 4.—That every man who has served the navy honorably during the war may have an official testimonial. Secretary Daniels has approved a war service
certificate to be issued by commanding
officers to the enlisted personnel of both the regular force and the naval reserve.

Jack Pickford, Movie Star, Go-Between in Navy Bribery

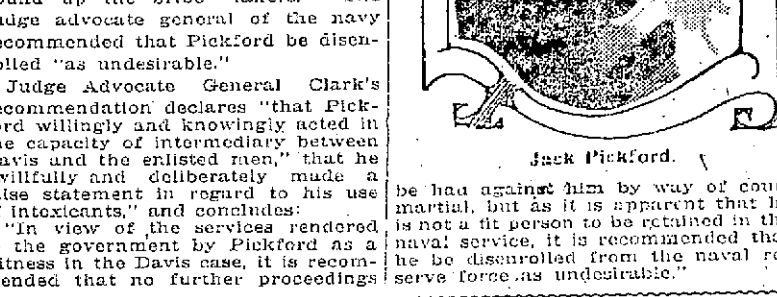

Washington, March 4.—(Special.)
It has just been disclosed that Jack Pickford, moving picture star, was discharged from the navy because of his connection with the New York
navy graft scandal involving wholesale bribery of naval officers by rich
slackers, who bought bombproof jobs
to escape the draft.

Pickford was the go-between who arranged the transactions between Lieut. Benjamin S. Davis and the "safety-first" men seeking enrollment in the naval reserve. Davis, who divided $10,000 bribe money with other officers, was dismissed and it now serving a three-year penitentiary sentence.

Whether Pickford received any of the bribe money naval officers profess
to be unable to state, but the navy department records show that he turned state's evidence in the Davis
case and enabled the government to round up the bribe takers. The judge advocate general of the navy
recommended that Pickford be discarded "as undesirable."

Judge Advocate General Clark's recommendation declares "that Pickford willingly and knowingly acted in the capacity of intermediary between Davis and the enlisted men," that he
"willfully and deliberately made a false statement in regard to his use of intoxicants," and concludes:

"In view of the services rendered to the government by Pickford as a witness in the Davis case, it is recommended that no further proceedings
be had against him by way of court martial, but as it is apparent that he is not a fit person to be retained in the naval service, it is recommended that he be discharged from the naval reserve force as undesirable."

Jack Pickford.

IRISH RULE QUESTION PART OF PEACE DUTY, SAYS HOUSE VOTE

Washington, March 4.—By a vote of 218 to 141 the House today adopted
the resolution expressing the hope that the peace conference would "favorably consider the claims of Ireland
to the right of self-determination."

The resolution was passed in the Senate where it is considered altogether
improbable that any action can be obtained before final adjournment.

Adoption of the resolution in the house came after a turbulent night
session in which an organized effort was made to keep the resolution from coming to a vote. Only one member,
Representative Connally of California,
expressed opposition to the measure.

The resolution was introduced by Mann, Representative of Pennsylvania,
and others attempted, parliamentary delay throughout the night.

Representative Connally, who is the democratic supporter of the resolution, had delayed the bringing of it to a vote until just before adjournment
so that it would not be passed by the Senate and so that the resolution
would not be called upon, to approve or disapprove the measure.

"I desire to advise the political party
that attempts to throttle this resolution that it is dealing with dynamite
and will explode," said Representative Gail-livan of Massachusetts, democrat.

"I appeal to the house to stop this nonsense and give consideration to a resolution in which the rights of a people who have been suffering for several centuries, and let the world know that we believe in President Wilson when he said we entered the war to make small nations free."

In opposing the resolution Representative Connally said the internal affairs of Great Britain were no concern to the people of the United States.
The people of this country, he asserted,
would resent a resolution in the British parliament proposing self-determination for Porto Rico.

Representative Connally said that even if the measure were not approved by the Senate, favorable action by the house might obtain sympathetic consideration for Ireland at the peace conference.

TOBACCO GROWERS POSTPONE MEETING

(By a Special Correspondent.)
Evanston, March 4.—The meeting
of the tobacco growers of Evanston
and vicinity which was to have been held Wednesday afternoon, has been postponed until 2 o'clock Thursday afternoon. The meeting will be held at the city hall.

The meeting is for the incorporation of the Tobacco Growers' association. The date was postponed because of sales
being held this week.

Boat Men of New York Harbor Again Strike

(By Associated Press.)
New York, March 4.—The strike of 16,000 boat men in New York harbor, halted last January, resumed at 6 a. m. today and at that hour shipping virtually was at a standstill.

The strike was ordered yesterday
by the executive council of the Marine Workers' affiliation. The strikers demand wage increases averaging 30
percent and the 8 hour day.

At the standard shipyard on Shooting Island, 1,000 employees decided to take a holiday rather than risk finding the Staten Island ferry service suspended until the Hudson river tubes
were closed.

The Central Railroad of New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Erie and other roads closed their ferry houses to the public and thousands of commuters
soured into the Hudson river tubes
already crowded with rush hour passengers.

Foch Asks Immediate Delivery of German Ships

Copenhagen, March 4.—Marshal Foch has demanded the immediate delivery of the German mercantile fleet without regard to the question of food supply, according to a dispatch from Weimar.

EDS CALL ANTI-EBERT WIDE STRIKE

SPARTACANS AND BERLIN COM-MUNISTS ISSUE APPEAL FOR OVERTHROW OF PRES-IDENT RULE.

DEMANDS ARE BROAD

Ask Trial of "War Criminals"; Conclusion of Peace With Russia; Establishment of Diplomatic Relations.

(By Associated Press.)
Berlin, Monday, March 4.—The National Spartacus League and the greatest Berlin communist organizations have issued an appeal for an immediate general strike and the overthrow of the national assembly and the present republic.

The organizations instruct their followers to assemble at factories to prevent work and direct them to avoid street demonstrations that the government may have the opportunity to crush the movement by force.

The workmen of the Schwartz
plant, who are among the most radical in Berlin, have voted for a general strike, 12,000 men being affected.
This is the first response to the appel.

Metal Trades Favor Strike.
According to the Metal Trades, the metal trades and the railway workers,
favor a general stoppage of work.

The aims of the proposed strike include the introduction of the factory
councils in all plants to regulate factory affairs and ultimately the taking over of the government troops by the workers.

The independent socialists, the withdrawal of all troops from Westphalia, Bremen and other regions
designated, and the formation of a red
guard under the control of the soviets,
which would take over all military
and police powers.

Ask Trial of War Criminals.
The liberation of all political prisoners and the establishment of a general strike, to try the "chief criminals" of the war, the Hohenzollerns, Field Marshal Von Hindenburg, General Ludendorff, Admiral Ra-
der, and the other war criminals.

President Ebert, Chancellor Scheidemann and Gustav Noske, the minister of the defense, are also called for.
The immediate conclusion of peace
with Russia and the establishment of diplomatic relations with the Russian republic are likewise demanded.

The independent socialists, it is said,
will not act on the strike issue before Tuesday.

Counter-strike Planned.
Some 200 business and professional
men and officers in the city, mostly
members of the old order, are being
decided to take immediate steps
for organizing a general strike of all
the non-socialist classes as a countermeasure.

Some 200 business and professional
men and officers in the city, mostly
members of the old order, are being
decided to take immediate steps
for organizing a general strike of all
the non-socialist classes as a counter-
measure.

Outside Berlin reports from the Eschen district show that the miners strike has been renewed there. The miners' union of the Eschen district
central Germany have voted to return to work today.

State of Siege in Berlin.
Cologne, Monday, March 4.—The Prussian government has declared a state of siege in the police districts of Berlin, Spandau, and other suburbs of Berlin in order to "protect the bulk of the city from the danger of famine
and the terror of the minority."

Bavarians March on Munich.
Paris, March 4.—Bavarians opposed to the radical government in Munich
are marching on that city, according to a dispatch from Zurich.

Independent Socialists Leave.
Weimar, Monday, March 4.—Government circles are said to be considerably exercised over the fact that nearly the entire independent socialist delegation in the national assembly
has left Weimar during the day of strikes, uprisings and attempts to cut off Weimar from the rest of Germany.

The semi-official government organ
today says the radicals are traveling
about stirring up disorder and trouble on the money which the government is paying them.

The national assembly is discussing voting to suspend the radicals so as to be able to assemble immediately
when desired.

Weimar continues to be heavily guarded by troops.

NOLAN, CITY ADVISOR, WILL ARRIVE MONDAY

John Nolan, reputed to be the most prominent city advisor and planner in the United States, will arrive for a conference with the city plan committee Monday or Tuesday, according to a telegram received today by Edward Amerphol, chairman of the committee.

Mr. Nolan will meet the committee
for a preliminary survey of the city
and its needs will be made to further
carrying out of the committee's plans.
The committee is planning a new city plan for the city.

The telegram received by Mr. Amerphol was as follows:
"Your telegram received on my return to Cambridge. Believe I can arrange my time to be in Janesville
early next week, probably Monday or Tuesday. Will this be satisfactory?"
Mr. Amerphol wired Mr. Nolan this afternoon that time would suit the committee.

sia in exchange for United States Con-

who has been held prisoner by Bolsheviki officials at Tashkent, Turk-

DEMOCRATIC CONGRESS ENDS; G. O. P. FILIBUSTER; RAILROAD BILL UNPASSED

PEOPLE TO VOTE ON
$1,500,000.00 BOND
ISSUE FOR HIGHWAYS

SUPERVISORS AGREE TO PUT
QUESTION ON BALLOT; MEET
TODAY AT COURT HOUSE.

MOSELEY PAVES WAY

Commissioner Moore Points Out The Value of Laying Concrete Pavement
Now, Rather Than to Resurface.

The voters will decide the question
of having the county for $1,500,000,
was the 30 to 3 decision of the county
supervisors who met today. The question will be put to vote at the April election. The approval would cover
the construction of 100 miles of concrete roads.

The action followed a long speech
by Highway Commissioner Moore, who pointed out the advantages of concrete over gravel and other road materials. The dissenting voters were Eli Crall, town of Center; Peter Olson, town of Aven; and John C. Wik-son, town of Harmony. Seven members were absent.

Thresh Out Question
Every phase of the proposed bond issue was threshed out at the morning
session of the supervisors which opened at 10:30. A free whole-hearted discussion followed the introduction of the highway committee's resolution to submit the proposition to a vote of the people at the April election. A number of the supervisors and technicians were made clear through the efforts of Supervisors H. B. Moseley, John Paul, M. P. Richardson, and County Highway Commissioner Chas.
E. Moore.

The resolution which was introduced by Supervisor Moseley provides that the people shall vote at the April election on the question of whether Rock County shall issue a series of non-taxable, 5 percent interest bearing bonds, with interest payable semi-annually, to the amount of $1,500,000
to be used to construct to pave with concrete 81 miles of the state trunk
line highway system and the Janesville
Evanston-Brooklyn road.

The question of whether the trunk line system of state or federal was raised several times by Supervisor E.
D. McGowan. Supervisor Richardson
emphatically pointed out in the discussion that it was the state trunk line system and not the federal. Supervisor Steele brought up a number of questions similar to Mr. McGowan's.

Commissioner Moore spoke of the need of substantial
highways in the county and the extravagance of spending money on gravel roads was pointed out in a concise manner by County Highway Commissioner Moore. He cited several concrete illustrations serving to show
what would happen if the county did not build concrete highways and build
them as soon as possible.

The gravel roads in bad condition now
and is easily in need of reconstruction," he said. "In order to put this to rest in decent shape, it will cost at least $4,000 a mile to do this? And then at the end of ten years what will we have to show? We'll be right back where we started and still have a mass of half destroyed highways and the people will be wondering where all the money has gone. It is a physical impossibility to keep gravel roads which are subjected to without expending large amounts of money. With the building of concrete highways this would be eliminated."

"Should the people vote the bond issue we will be able to build the entire Janesville-Beloit concrete road
this year. If not, traffic on the road
will be a hindrance for at least two years
and tearing it to the Afion road
and tearing that to pieces.

"Dane county and other surrounding counties are agitating a similar issue. We are going to recognize the utter waste of money they have been making all these years. The construction of permanent highways is universally advocated."

"Provision will be made by the state
for adequate protection from the dangers from heavy tractors and other motor vehicles. A state highway police force to enforce these regulations is being considered."

GOVERNORS CLASH OVER DUTY TO PEOPLE

(By Associated Press.)
Washington, March 4.—A clash between Governor Edge of New Jersey and Governor Cox of Ohio, developed today over the proposed new highway bond issue, after an attack by Gov.
Edge on the government's policy of "trying to do too much for the people."

Activities of government departments in the work of restoring business to normal conditions and of alleviating unemployment were presented at their conference by the White House. Roger W. Babson, director of the department of labor's information
and education service was the principal speaker. Governor Coolidge of Massachusetts presided.

"Manufacturers are willing to produce," said Mr. Babson, "merchants are willing to stock up when the public is ready to buy. It is strongly emphasized to us today that the government should now secure as much publicity for a movement to stimulate buying as it did during the war to return buying power for labor."

Gov. Coolidge cited figures on the number of advertisements as compared with last year, to show there still was a strong demand for labor. He said that to restore normal business conditions government war contracts should be settled speedily.

Board of Education to Meet at High School Tonight

Tonight at 7:30 o'clock at the high school the regular monthly meeting of the board of education will be held.

portance to come before the meeting.

Jesse Earle, a member of the board,
stated this morning that nothing further regarding the proposed new high school would be done at the meeting
as the matter now rested with the city council and the school board had nothing more to do with it until after the question had been ballotted on.

CONGRESS ENDS; RAILROAD BILL IS LEFT UNPASSED

spoke for two hours and at 7:36 Senator Sherman began an extended address.
The filibuster continued until the end. Senator Sherman held the floor for more than four hours and successfully prevented further consideration of the railroad appropriation.
Last Half Hour Spent in Roll Call.
The last half hour was spent in roll call on a house resolution to which amendments were proposed providing for early demobilization of the American army. The resolution never reached a final vote.

The senate adjourned in an uproar of laughter when the vice president announced that the senate was adjourned sine "die" instead of sine "die".
While Senator Sherman was speaking, Senator Jones of New Mexico sought unanimous consent to present a favorable report of the woman suffrage committee on the suffrage question, but the Illinois senator blocked his efforts by refusing to yield the floor.

Moses Criticizes Wilson's Dogged Refusal for Session

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Washington, March 4.—Senator Moses of New Hampshire, republican, issued a statement today declaring failure of President Wilson to call an extra session of congress.

"It may be thought improper to impute motive to the president," said the statement, "but there are senators on both sides of the chamber who believe that the president's dogged refusal to summon congress save when he pleases is due to his desire to monopolize the center of the international stage and to use the megaphone of the Paris peace conference for a selfish longing for a spurious feeling of peace."

Gore Asks All Drafted Soldiers Be Demobilized

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Washington, March 4.—Insistence by Senator Gore of Oklahoma, democrat, that the senate act on his approval to order demobilization of all drafted soldiers in this country within 30 days, unexpectedly complicated the legislative situation a half hour before the end of the session of congress today.

A motion by Senator Pittman of Nevada, to table the Gore amendment was defeated by a vote of 23 to 33.

Bassett Says Navy Bribery Stories Exaggerated

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Washington, March 4.—Capt. Bassett, executive officer at the Great Lakes Naval station, reported to Secretary Daniels today that the printed reports regarding the arrests at that station were "sensational and grossly exaggerated."
Investigation, Capt. Bassett said, indicated that only a few enlisted men were involved and that they evidently accepted money under false pretenses, as so far no evidence had been found that any man had been discharged as a result of the passing of bribes.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Washington, March 4.—A cablegram from General Pershing made public today at the war department, charges that a campaign of criticism against the handling of the embarkation camp at Brest, France, grew out of the trial by court martial of Major Alfred W. ## Baker Says Army Not Left in Serious Situation

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)
Washington, March 4.—Failure of the army appropriation bill and other military measures to pass before congress adjourned, leaves the war department in a "difficult but not a serious situation," Secretary Baker said today. No immediate shortage of funds to care for the troops is in prospect.
Mr. Baker said his greatest regret was that failure of the army reorganization meant that a number of men of the wartime army must remain in the service for a longer time than would have been necessary otherwise.

For Others

By VICTOR REDCLIFFE

(Copyright, 1919, by Western Newspaper Union.)

"Down below freezing point, quite," lisped Augustus Van Dorn, exquisite and lady killer, to a friend at a social function. "Tried to flirt with her, tried to talk to her—she froze me with a look!"

"Yes, Miss Ada Dalton—is sub zero on most occasions," nodded his friend casually. "She has no use for the male sex and little for her sisterhood acquaintances."

Which was true in a measure, yet under the mask of disdain and indifference there was a heart filled with genuine interest and sympathy where the same were helpful and necessary. It seemed strange to her old school-mates, but almost at the dawn of early womanhood Ada Dalton appeared to have resolved to devote her life to the welfare of the poor, the downtrodden and the distressed.

Her true philanthropic work began when a well-meaning retired clergyman and his wife established a home for little orphan children gathered from the slums of the city. The clergyman died, and his wife, broken down in health and spirits, went home to her parents. It was then that Ada induced her father to donate a thousand dollars to the charity to bridge over the reconstruction of the same. She interested local church societies, she won upon grasping, hard-hearted Joel Bliss to give a free lease for ten years of a large building that had been abandoned as an unprofitable suburban hotel.

From that time forward Ada was all heart and soul in the project, and within a year had so systematized the same that comfort and happiness were assured for the children under her charge. It seemed to fill her life completely, and the circle of girl assistants she grouped about her came to share her interest and philanthropy.

Joel Bliss was away for his health when there came an election of new officers. Quite casually he was succeeded in the governorship by a local politician who aspired to publicity. When Bliss returned he was wrath and disgruntled. It was said that he had at once canceled his will. Before Ada, with her gentle, persuasive way, could gain an interview and convince him that no disrespect had been intended, he died. She was dismayed when, a month later, his lawyer intimated to her that the prospective legacy had been annulled and that Randall Bliss, a nephew residing in a distant city, was the beneficiary of his estate.

The future prospects of the children's home looked gloomy. There had been a deficit the year previous, and Ada had counted on Mr. Bliss making it up. The institution faced a debt of seven hundred dollars. A part of this she induced her father to provide and she solicited contributions for the residue, but the building required repairs and the furniture needed replacement and she feared for the permanency of the charity.

One day Ada was seated in the office of the home puzzling her tired brain over some provision for pressing bills for fuel and food, when a young man entered the room. She noted at a glance that he was of superior mold. His dignity and courtesy attracted her. He introduced himself without preface.

"I am Randall Bliss," he said. "Of course you have heard my name mentioned as the heir of my dead uncle, Joel Bliss."

Ada nodded, paled, then a quick concern came into her lovely eyes. Did this mean dispossession? If so, why should she demur? She asked her visitor politely to be seated. A fire burned in the grate and he gazed into the gloomy embers thoughtfully. He looked up abruptly.

"Miss Dayton," he said in a clear, kindly tone that somehow encouraged her, "I have just come from my uncle's attorney. I find that he has the original will my uncle made, and that only. He recalls, however, that my uncle told him that he had made a later will. This is true. My uncle sent this later will to me. There it is."

Randall Bliss took from his pocket a folded document. "This instrument only," he proceeded, "stands in the way of the dear little ones under your charge receiving ownership to this building and ten thousand dollars. I have been inquiring about your noble charity—and you. They need the benefaction; they deserve it more than I."

"Oh! what would you do?" cried Ada with a vivid start, for Randall

Bliss had cast the document into the grate and it was reduced to nothingness. He arose and bowed courteously. "A tribute," he said with earnest tone, "to your noble life work," and was gone.

Ah! for the heart of ice. If nothing else, that flood of joyous tears would have melted it away. Sub zero? The woman nature, glorified, shone like purest gold, and then to her knees, in a thrilling prayer of gratitude infinite!

It was not in that pure, thankful soul to rest until she had sought out the man who had conferred inestimable blessings upon her beloved charges. She met him on the street, and broken words and tears mingled. His mission at Brookville was completed, but he lingered. Her gentle eyes bade him do so. Her sweet lips later repeated the request, and with the first June roses Ada had a partner in her great work for others.

Brothers Saluted and Died.
Such possibilities as have been presented to the men of our destroyers have been well met. There are examples of heroism not surpassed by anything in the history of our navy. For instance, there is the case of the two young brothers who were wireless operators on a destroyer which was badly damaged by an explosion. Staggering forward, away from the injured part of the ship, these boys met the captain. Not realizing how badly they were hurt, he ordered them below to get medical attention.
"No, sir," said the elder brother; "give it to some of the poor devils back there who've got a chance. We're done for. Please notify our mother we died on duty." And at that the pair saluted their commander and collapsed. In a few seconds both were dead.—Gregory Mason in the Outlook.

THE FLU AND YOU.

If you had influenza during the recent epidemic, don't congratulate yourself too soon upon being safely through the siege. Do you still feel tired and run down? Then sound sense argues for a little attention to your physical condition.

Between 1890 and 1893 many people died from the after effects of the 1889 epidemic. This circumstance need not frighten those who had influenza during the last few months. It does not foreshadow their doom. But it does sound a warning to such of them as have ears to hear.

Influenza is a disease which lowers resistance and so opens the way to other disorders. After an attack of influenza there is a period of convalescence in which every effort should be directed to regaining normal health and with it normal resistance to disease. What the "symptoms" of normal health are, everyone knows for himself. And almost everyone knows the treatment which will ordinarily produce them.

If you have had influenza, practice the hygienic virtues very strictly. Take more than your usual amount of sleep, spend more than your usual amount of time out of doors, eat plain food, and keep away from people who have "colds." After following this treatment for a few weeks, if you still feel tired and not up to the mark, have a thorough physical examination made by a competent physician. Influenza has been known to affect the heart, kidney and lungs. It does not usually do permanent damage. It need not in your case, if you are not nervously and sanely and healthily on guard.

Influenza is a disease which lowers resistance and so opens the way to other disorders. After an attack of influenza there is a period of convalescence in which every effort should be directed to regaining normal health and with it normal resistance to disease. What the "symptoms" of normal health are, everyone knows for himself. And almost everyone knows the treatment which will ordinarily produce them.

If you have had influenza, practice the hygienic virtues very strictly. Take more than your usual amount of sleep, spend more than your usual amount of time out of doors, eat plain food, and keep away from people who have "colds." After following this treatment for a few weeks, if you still feel tired and not up to the mark, have a thorough physical examination made by a competent physician. Influenza has been known to affect the heart, kidney and lungs. It does not usually do permanent damage. It need not in your case, if you are not nervously and sanely and healthily on guard.

THE FLU AND YOU.

If you had influenza during the recent epidemic, don't congratulate yourself too soon upon being safely through the siege. Do you still feel tired and run down? Then sound sense argues for a little attention to your physical condition.

Between 1890 and 1893 many people died from the after effects of the 1889 epidemic. This circumstance need not frighten those who had influenza during the last few months. It does not foreshadow their doom. But it does sound a warning to such of them as have ears to hear.

The Gazette Stands Ready to Support All Endeavor to Make Janesville and Vicinity a Bigger and Better Community.

LET US BE READY.
The Thirty-second division, Wisconsin's pride, is coming home this summer. We are going to show the soldiers who fought so desperately for us, as well as those who are left to mourn the ones who gave their lives, our appreciation. Other Rock county fighters in other units will be given a glorious reception. We are going to cheer them; shed tears of joy over them; hands will play, flags will wave and everyone will be hysterical with joy for several days.

What then? Are we going to let it go at that? Are we not going to show appreciation of a more substantial nature?

Many cities in every state already have planned memorials for their soldiers. Some have started work, and one Wisconsin city, Merrill, has completed a community building and has dedicated it to the men who brought such great honor to their state.

Two of Janesville have talked over plans for a memorial in a vague sort of way. Nothing definite has been decided upon. We have been busy with other things which must be attended to at once. But now we should get right down to business, determine what sort of a memorial we want, raise the funds without delay, and get to work.

Most of our people agree that a Liberty building which can be used as a community center, not for Janesville alone, but for all those who live within a reasonable distance of the city should be erected. It should be a structure which can house the activities of this community. It should be a memorial which will be useful and handsome.

Our boys have made sacrifices which we cannot duplicate. We should not stint in offering for them something that will be a source of pride and usefulness.

Let us get busy now so that when the boys who bore the brunt of battle; those fellows who so filled the Germans with fear that they turned and ran; those who returned, we will at least have started something substantial as a monument to their valor.

CONTINUE TO SAVE.
Prof. W. A. Scott, in speaking before the Rock County Bar association at its annual banquet, offered a thought which should be carefully considered by those who are charged with making the outcome of the war a success.

He declared that the United States must become the credit nation of the world. To do this, he explained, it was necessary for the masses to save as carefully as they did while the war was in actual progress.

All that has been done in the fight for democracy can be undone if we fail to face the economic problems in both this country and Europe with wise deliberation. In order to stamp out Bolshevism we must encourage those nations that need funds to bring them from the chaos into which they have been thrown in the last four years.

Prof. Scott says that to build an economic wall around the United States would leave Europe at a standstill and encourage Bolshevism; to cause the very thing we are striving to prevent.

The people of the United States can afford to save, lending to the world until it is freed from the most devastating terror known in history. With Bolshevism, life, institutions and governments topple and fall. We must brace those institutions and governments with all our strength.

JUDGE FIELD.
Judge Field, who is running out his term as county judge, will be a candidate for re-election. His record during his tenure of office shows that he has done his work well. He has held one of the most important positions in the county and his performance of his duties has made for him many friends. He has been diligent and painstaking and has been ever ready to give aid to those who came to him with perplexing probate matters. He has organized the machinery of his office in a most efficient manner so that all who transacted business there could do so without delay or inconvenience.

The position of county judge is a peculiar one. It must be filled by a man who has ability and legal knowledge. The incumbent must be able to see all angles of each case and protect those who come to him.

Judge Field has demonstrated that he is fitted for such work. He has shown a sympathetic attitude toward those who have come before him with legal problems. The voters of the county would not make a mistake in electing Judge Field at the April election.

THE SIXTY-FIFTH CONGRESS.
The sixty-fifth congress has had a busy session and as it gives way to the new legislative body, a review of history-making precedents is interesting.

It is the only congress to make declarations of war upon the Imperial German government and the Austro-Hungarian government. It passed the greatest tax law in parliamentary history, levying $10,000,000,000 in taxes in two years. It authorized issuance of $22,000,000,000 in bonds, the greatest bond issues attempted by any nation. An army appropriation bill of approximately $12,000,000,000, the largest appropriation bill ever enacted by any country, was passed. It made possible the selective service law and raised the draft to the largest

American army. It was addressed by the president of the United States, and times which is more than any other congress. It authorized the expenditure of $2,854,000,000 to create an American merchant marine, to be the greatest in the world. It appropriated $100,000,000 for housing war workers.

Appropriations were made for creating an American air service and an authorized airplane mail service. It authorized government control of railroads and communication agencies. It created federal control of food and fuel and it created a war finance corporation to aid war industries.

NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING.
Roger W. Babson, director general of the United States department of labor information and education service has made an appeal to stimulate business to its pre-war basis through newspaper advertising. Mr. Babson declares it is the surest and quickest way to overcome the general buying apathy which exists at present.

"We would like to see more retail advertising and more national advertising," says Mr. Babson. Newspaper publishers and advertising salesmen have been asked to prepare advertisements for the department of labor.

If Mr. Babson could convince the director of railroads that paid advertising would benefit the government as well as the public, perhaps more good would result.

Janesville is losing the services of a valuable citizen in the departure of A. S. Phelps, V. M. C. A. boys' secretary. He has been with us but a few months but in that time he has aroused an interest in boys' activities which will provide a substantial working basis for the future.

The state legislators are rounding into the home stretch, so says a report. They are going to tackle the big measures. They may get under the wire in record time if some one does not jump the rail and slow up the race.

Tobacco dealers are in a quandary as to the price they should charge for cigars and cigarettes. If they want to make a hit with the public, they should get enough to pay the added tax, but not touch on a cent or two for good measure of profit.

Senator Sherman sees in Wilson a drum major. It appears, as though the president would have to pat on some new tricks with the baton, so he can lead some of the senators in the procession.

Demobilization has probably been delayed so as not to throw the men on their own resources too suddenly. But the preference of the men would have been to go home at once. They would gladly take their chances on getting something to do. And they can't make progress toward securing jobs while stuck up in cantonnments a long distance from home.—Eau Claire Telegram.

A WOLF HOWL.
Of "Harpan Jake," from the head of the lake.
With hair on his breast—that's me.
I've pawed this earth since my day of birth.

With a spirit wild an' free.
I've seen the West at its worst an' best.

Two rolled 'em wide and high.
But I love my sand and I lay my hand
When Cal-i-for-ni's dry.
What would they do—that roarin' Them wolves that I used to know.
If they'd hear the news, that we can't have booze.

In this land where the jag-vines grow?
I reckon they'd shoot any dam' galoot
Who threatened to stop their rye.
But they won't be here my soul to cheer.
When Cal-i-for-ni's dry.

Dig me a grave where the willows wave.
At the rim of the lonesome swamp.
Where the lizards creep an' the tree toads creep.

An' the tenebrous bullfrogs romp.
Throw me an' my jug that I used to lug.
In the hole an' say "Goodbye"—
It's no place here for a pioneer
When Cal-i-for-ni's dry.

"SIG" RAattles THE SKELETON.
R. K. M.—Not wishing to deprive Renold Wolf of a luncheon, or anything like that, but that "press" joke first appeared in the "Eden Enterprise" soon after Adam and Eve announced their engagement. The original form was something like this:

"May I print a kiss on your cheek?" he asked.
She nodded a sweet permission.
So they went to press, and I rather guess
They printed a large edition.

There was a movement started, early in the nineteenth century, to put this joke from newspaper columns, along with the mother-in-law and the talkative barber. But evidently it came to nothing.
Yours for palpable plagiarism.

By the way, what is going to become of the temperance lecturers? Maybe they will have to go to work.

MY UNCLE BILL.

My Uncle Bill was different from a lot of men I know. He never was ashamed, when asked, to say he didn't know; He never picked opinions from the other fellow's tree. However good a gardener the other man might be, He used to say, "perhaps, he's right, but still I won't admit That I should think the self-same way until I've studied it."

"The Lord gave me a brain to use and eyes with which to see. With ready-made ideas, though, He didn't outfit me. He didn't send me down to earth to dig around and blink the things which other people think. He didn't say: 'You'll find your thoughts in books on any shelf; I fancy that He hoped I'd do some thinking for myself.'"

"He sent me here with power to make my choice twice right and wrong."

To choose the lodge and church and school to which I would belong; And no man takes another's word for what is good to cut. For what one man calls bitter food, another swears is sweet. And so with men's opinions I'll not quarrel or agree Until I've done some thinking and the truth seems clear to me."

—a car of rare charm and—able

YOUR first impression of this present day Maxwell as it passes you on the street is one of decided beauty.

Your first ride in it, whether at the wheel or in the tonneau, tells you of its rare charm.

But after six months you find a new admiration for the Maxwell. You find it shuns the repair shop, that it runs and runs and never stops running.

Then after a year is past you develop an enthusiasm for it that dictionary words don't seem to fully describe.

And then after you have had it for more than the average life of a motor car and you find it far better than even the Maxwell salesman said it was you search for the reason.

This is what you find:

For 5 years Maxwell cars have been built on the single chassis plan. To date 300,000 have been turned out on this plan. Each car better than the other. Each one better looking than the other.

There have been more than 1000 refinements in the Maxwell, but never once have the Maxwell executives swerved from the original program.

You conclude that reliability was designed "into" the car and built "into" it, and that a policy of 300,000-all-alike is the soundest kind of reason for writing your check for a present day Maxwell.

GROUP LEADERSHIP CHURCH NECESSITY CONFERENCE DECIDES

A Rock county conference aiming toward a broader objective in the church and the application of the group method to the successful teaching of religion, opened at the Y. M. C. A. today. Twenty delegates were present.

Following registration and singing, led by Secretary Bearmore, Rev. Pearson spoke on "Enlarged Opportunities of the Church."

"New occasions teach new duties," he said. "The world is passing through a test, and the church is not exempt. Our opportunities are greater than before. There is a need for Christian leadership, for an unselfish, serving ministry. The gift between the church and the average man must be secured. A simple, real religion is the solution."

Church Union Urged.
"Forces must be united with a view toward an aggressive campaign with church union or some similar co-operation in view. The churches and the ministry are at present selfish. Fundamentals of group work were discussed by J. A. Steiner, Beloit secretary. The application of the group method, now used by the Y. M. C. A., is expected to be successfully applied to the church."

Secretary Bearmore explained the addition of the group method to the church at the afternoon meeting. "A group of leaders, each with the spirit of service, could accomplish more lasting good than one minister alone," he said. "We must strive to apply the group plan to religion."

Dinner Tonight.
The conference closes with a dinner at the Y. M. C. A. this evening. Among the delegates were Clarence Artman, state county secretary; J. K. Arnot and Verce C. Varney, special state representatives; J. A. Steiner, Beloit general secretary; John C. Kohler, industrial secretary at Beloit; W. G. Hamilton, F. M. Warner, Milton Junction; Rev. O. W. Smith, J. T. Wardell, Evansville; Rev. H. G. Pierson, Rev. F. P. Lewis, A. S. Phelps, J. R. Jensen, W. W. Dale, J. A. Skinner, Rev. J. A. McRae, Rev. J. H. Traudale, Jamesville; C. A. Finn, Beloit.

LAYING OF WATER MAINS IS RETARDED

Four requests from bridge contractors for plans and specifications for the new bridge to be erected over Rock river at Jackson street have been received by City Engineer C. V. Kerch. The information desired will be forwarded to the companies at once.

Mr. Kerch stated this morning that notices regarding the construction of the bridge would be mailed to 40 contractors throughout the United States today and several bids are expected before the time expires March 27. Due to the shortage of labor and the inclement weather of the past week work of laying the water mains on South Jackson street has been retarded considerably and it is not expected to have the work finished by March 15, as originally planned.

A new crew of workmen under the direction of George Croft took charge of the work this morning and the work will be rushed as fast as possible.

TESTIMONY TAKEN IN CIVIL ACTION

Testimony is being taken this afternoon before a six man jury in the municipal court in the civil action of A. M. Hull vs. John Goldthorpe. The action was started over the failure of the defendant to abide by a contract relative to the purchase of a milking machine, it is claimed.

John Goldthorpe took the stand shortly before noon and after a recess continued his testimony through the afternoon. The jury is composed of Messrs. Frank George, D. J. Barry, E. E. Van Pool, Bert Gower, A. J. Cleveland and James Scott.

BILL WOULD LICENSE MASTER PAINTERS

(By FRED L. HOLMES.)
Madison, March 4.—The Wisconsin legislature is asked to regulate and license master painters and decorators. A bill has just been offered in the lower house by Assemblyman C. M. Perry, Oakkosh, creating a state commission of three capable and experienced painters to carry out the provisions of the proposed measure.

This master painters' commission, under the terms of the Perry bill, would be appointed by the governor. Each of the commissioners must have five years' experience in painting and decorating. Semi-annual examinations shall be held by the commission. This commission would be under the general supervision of the state board of health. The fee for a master painter's license shall be $25, except that the same may be renewed upon payment of $10.

The state board of health is given power to revoke the license of any master painter obtained through error or fraud. It shall be unlawful to leave any waste, rags, or any material used for wiping, purposes for painting, varnishing, or removing of paint or varnish, inside of a building, unless fully spread out in a cool place, or away from any chance of ignition from heat or fire. The use of adulterants in exterior painting by a licensed master painter is unlawful unless permission be first obtained from the owner or person or persons who are having the work done.

It is also made unlawful to redecorate the rooms of a place where there has been a contagious disease without first fumigating the place.

COUNCIL WILL ACT ON SEWER PROGRAM

A joint meeting of the board of public works and the city council was held at the city hall last evening following the regular monthly meeting of the board.

City Engineer C. V. Kerch stated this morning that the meeting was held for the purpose of discussing the sewerage question fully before any action relative to the laying of new sewers was general discussion, the city council adopted a sewerage program for the coming year, but deemed it advisable to put off any action on the matter until estimates were given by the city engineer.

Mr. Kerch stated this morning that he was already engaged completing the estimates and that in all probability the council would act on the matter at their next meeting on Monday evening.

The appeal to Harrison was sent when it was learned that Mayor "Big Bill" Thompson had been renominated by the Republicans at the recent primaries and that Robert M.

French Versus American Fashions-- Which Does Milady Like Better?

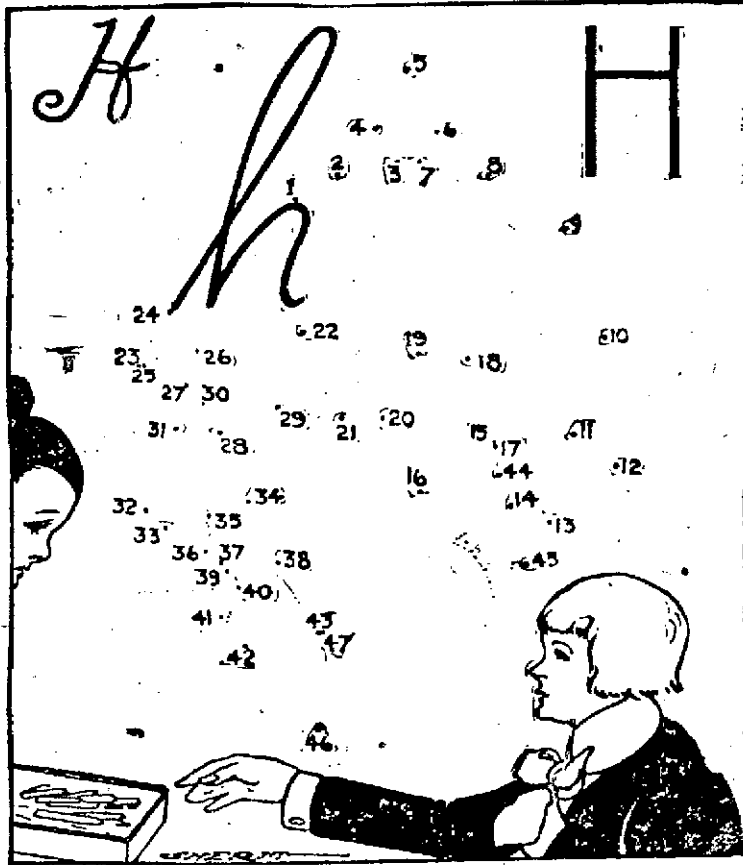

By ELOISE.

Can you tell which are the American-made fashions and which have come direct from Paris? There is one thing this season which tells the tale as nothing else can—the length of the skirt. Paris is still wearing "en short" while here in America they are touching the floor. In fact the Paris skirts barely cover the knees, while our American models completely conceal the ankles. Some worthy women will rejoice in the death of the short skirt in America. They will probably sigh with relief when those "indecent skirts of ballet length" make their exit. It cannot be denied, however, that the short skirt is more comfortable and more sane than any long skirt could be—yes, even if it is indiscreet enough to stop at the knees. Of course, for the older women the long dresses are more becoming, but when they are as tight as the new models and need to be slit to the knee to make even hobnobbing possible they really are no more modest nor "decent" than the abbreviated ones. Indeed, the slit skirt has little right for being because it is neither comfortable, becoming nor beautiful. When the designers go to extremes like the French have in turning up the hem and the Americans have in letting them down, it is hard to cross between the two. Perhaps with Paris at one extreme and New York at the other, the majority of women will strike one of the much talked of happy mediums combining the two. Here there is no question but that the American fashions as pictured in this evening and afternoon gown are far more graceful and attractive.

At the left is an American evening gown of gold and black satin brocade with a unique bodice of jet-beads over gold metal cloth which surpasses even French ideas of the unusual. The black evening gown with the short skirt and narrow train is an imported model from Paris. It is fashioned of velvet and trimmed with jet beads. The afternoon gown at the right is also a French model. It is rather elaborate in design, being fashioned of black jersey and trimmed with little squares of spangled gold and white scraped wool, a truly mysterious combination. The lines are really not so very different from the American frocks, but the trimming is thoroughly Parisian. In the suited figure is an afternoon frock from a Fifth avenue designer. It is

THE DOT DRAWING CLASS

"Is Heinrich here today?" asked the Dot Drawing teacher. "Yes, ma'am," responded Heinrich. "Well then," said the Dot Drawing teacher, "what does the letter H remind you of?" "H," said Heinrich, "it reminds me that Hoch begins with H, but I couldn't draw that. Somehow or other I feel that perhaps the Kaiser had the letter 'H' in his mind when he designed the..."

Artificial Gems.

Nearly all artificial gems—that is to say, stones that are really made by artificial means—are compounds of alum crystallized under special conditions. The metallic salts that are added during fusion determine whether the stones produced shall be sapphires, rubies, oriental topazes, amethysts or emeralds.

How Cloves Are Cured.

In the Spice Islands the cloves are sometimes cured by being smoked over a wood fire until they assume a deep brown color, when the further drying is accomplished by the sun. Occasionally the buds are scalded before being dried. If bright sunny days prevail artificial heat may be dispensed with and the buds sun-dried from first to last. The crop loses about 60 per cent in drying.

made of taupe satin trimmed with bands and bands of wide black silk braid. The skirt is very long and very narrow and sleeves long and very wide, differing greatly from the Paris frock with its short skirt and tight sleeves. It certainly looks as if America had decided to be her own fashion center.

ABE MARTIN

The salesman that sells goods made in Germany after peace "I have a buddy ever grew despondent looking for trouble."

Buster's Measurement.

Frances was measuring her little cousin with a yard stick which she accidentally held with the small numbers at the top. After a few moments' study she calmly announced: "Buster is 3 1/2 inches not to the end."

Qualified Praise.

When four-year-old sonny, who was being served with some cauliflower, was asked how he liked it, he replied: "It is very nice, but please don't give me any more."

OLD FOLKS TAKE NEW LEASE ON LIFE

They All Look Into the Future With Confidence

This is the situation of hundreds of elderly men and women that have had their youth and health restored in such a short time. Aged men and women who have been steadily declining to the regret and dismay of fond relatives and friends are now hale and hearty, active both mentally and physically. Life to them has renewed the joys and pleasures of youth, where before it meant a dull, steady, progress down hill, with the decline and useless burden to themselves and everybody around. How they all dread this and how unnecessary it is.

A lively "old timer" said to our reporter: "I am now seventy years of age and my wife sixty-five and we both feel that any remedy that will truly build up the strength and increase the power of endurance of people of our age should be known to every nervous man, woman and child. Phosphated Iron did the work for both of us, and we made up our minds to let all of our friends know about it. Take it from us we certainly have spread the gospel of Phosphated Iron through this Phosphated Iron, so much so that hardly a day goes by without some of our friends stopping to thank us for putting them wise to such a splendid preparation."

Our city is full of just such experiences. There are thousands of men and women in all walks of life who need a strength and blood building nerve tonic, but do not know what to take. For this there is nothing like good old Iron and Phosphates in the right combination. Phosphated Iron to give increased strength, snap, vigor and staying power together with freedom from all nerve troubles. It enriches the blood, gives healthy color to the cheeks, is an unfailing source of renewed vitality, endurance and power for men and women who burn up their nervous energies too rapidly in this day of strenuous business and social competition.

Iron and Phosphates have been known to Doctors for years as being absolutely necessary to enable your blood to change food to healthy, strong, live nourishment and make nerves like iron. Phosphated Iron will do this for you. Try it today and be a "live one" again. "Come back," it can be done, the proof is everywhere around you.

Special Notice: To insure doctors and their patients getting the genuine Phosphated Iron we have put in capsules only, so do not allow dealers to sell you pills or tablets.

Thousands of cases are recorded where "Neutrone Prescription 99" has worked marvelous cures. We want to spread its fame everywhere. Nothing better for bronchitis, spasmodic croup, whooping cough or bronchial asthma. Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known the world over for its healing effect on the membranes. Avoid disappointment by asking your druggist for "24 ounces of Pinex" with full directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. Air Lane

By RALPH HAMILTON

(Copyright, 1919, by Western Newspaper Union.)

"I've had too much experience with runaway couples, love sick swains and romantic demoiselles to take any risks with my own daughter, Elida," announced Judge Cyrus Barnes with a cocksure chuckle of confidence and superiority. "Remember, I am known as the marrying justice, and the name fits."

There was some basis to the boastful claims of the father of pretty Elida Barnes. Year in, year out for a full decade he had been elected and re-elected to the office of magistrate. He was not much of a legal luminary, but he was shrewd, had a smattering of court usage and brought revenue to the town. Speeders were his special prey, marriage licenses were easy of acquisition in Rockton, and for that quiet little burg Judge Barnes won the distinction of a veritable modern Gretchen Green.

The judge had made money out of his office, and through fortunate investments had come to live at the edge of the village in an old mansion he had bought at a bargain. He was a widower and his sole cure was his only child, Elida. Upon her he had lavished money freely. She was a charming young lady of eighteen with a will of her own, but respectful and obedient toward her father on all occasions. The judge had planned out her future and had made Elida aware of its details. He intended when she was twenty-one to give her a fortune and a husband. He had in view Rodney Parker, the son of his oldest friend, a young man, however, whom Elida not only disliked but despised.

With all his prevision and prudence Judge Barnes had committed a capital mistake. It had been necessary to have witnesses to the marriages he performed, and Elida and the old housekeeper were often called to perform that function. There is no love like the ardent, impetuous love of elopers when it first blazes forth, and an atmosphere of the most delicious romanticism enveloped these truant compacts. Elida saw genuine heroes and heroines in these runaway matches. All the brides were young and lovely, all the young men chevaliers and knights errant. Elida could not have had a more sentimental training in what to her was a delightful episode in human life, though to her father business, pure and simple.

The result was that when Elida began to go to parties like other girls, the first young man who aroused her interest became her idol forthwith. Vernon Clare well deserved her approbation. He was an aviator in training, though not in service, at a field about fifty miles from Rockton, who came home to visit a married sister twice a month, and as many times a week after he had become acquainted with Elida.

"Nipped in the bud!" proclaimed the judge to his spinster sister one day, and he clacked his tongue and chuckled, and fancied he had reached the acme of wisdom, prudence and power. There had been an exciting scene. The judge had come upon his daughter and Clare in the garden cooing like two loving doves. Peremptorily he had ordered Clare from the place, mandatorially he had directed Elida to go to her room and not leave it until he had given her permission.

There was a mournful week for the sorrowing little creature who loved so sweetly. The judge never did things by halves, he vauntingly declared "that no man should steal his child away from him!" Aunt Tabitha, who hated all mankind, never allowed Elida out of her sight when in the walled-in garden. The hired man of the place was paid extra to lurk about and report the first indication of the baffled lover about the place. Even Rodney Parker was impressed into service and valourously patrolled the garden armed with a big horse pistol for several nights.

This Elida learned was caution and preparedness for sending her away for a year to a select seminary which was almost a prison. For the first time in her life she was defiant toward her father. The beginning and end of her argument, when coaxed, threatened and cajoled, was:

"I love Vernon. I shall run away and marry him the first chance I get!" The Barnes mansion was flat roofed, Elida had got into the way of taking a chair up there and reading, writing and nursing her sorrow. She chose this rather than the garden, under constant lynx eyed censure. No one intruded upon that solitude.

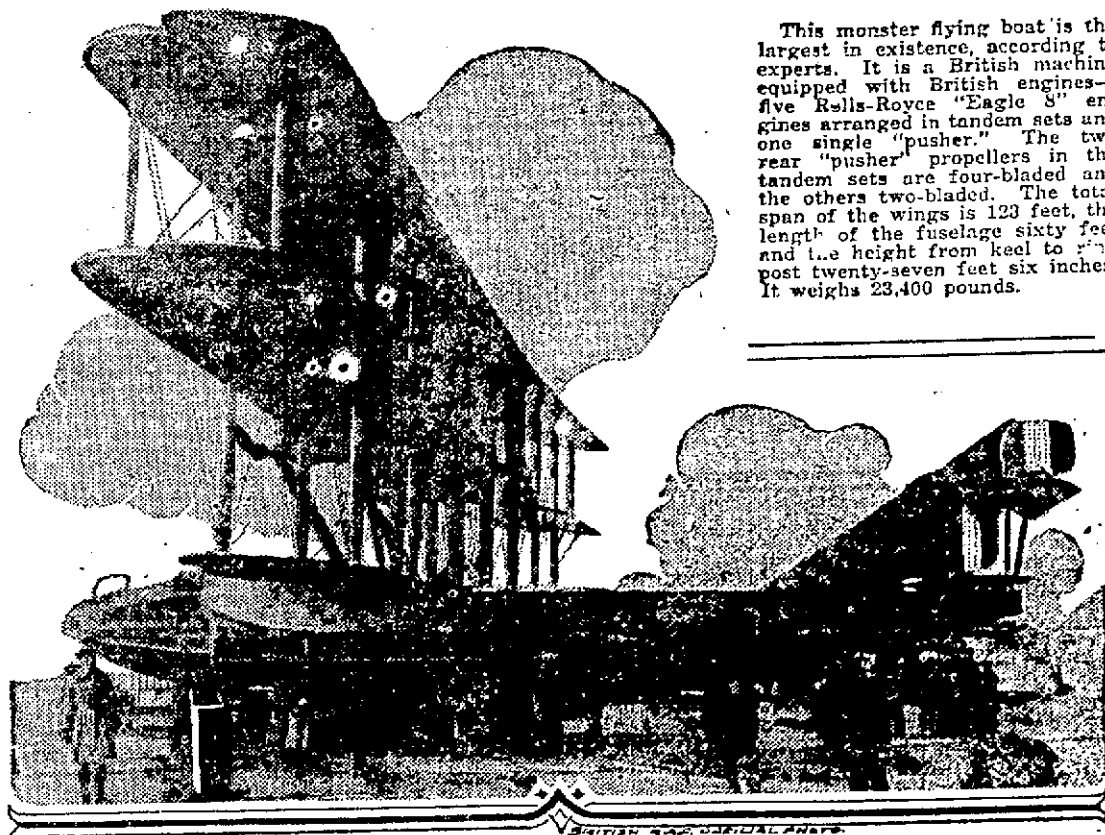

"I don't think any ardent lover will elope with my daughter, hedged in the way we've got her!" the judge congratulated himself, but devoted lovers have their ways, and somehow Vernon Clare got secret word to Elida, and one starlit night that happened which set Rockton aflame with excitement and delight.

Afterwards the man of all work insisted that a great bird flopped into view aloft. Aunt Tabitha, in the garden, described a winged monster flopping overhead and faded away. They found a part of the upper cornice broken away and a taint of gasoline in the atmosphere.

And sailing away against the full moon was a speeding speck. It bore to safety and bliss Vernon Clare, expert aviator, and Elida Barnes, romance charmed to the full, and two hours later Elida Barnes was Elida Clare.

GIANT TRIPLANE IS BIGGEST FLYING BOAT IN WORLD

The Porte super-baby triplane flying boat.

This monster flying boat is the largest in existence, according to experts. It is a British machine equipped with British engines—five Rolls-Royce "Eagle 8" engines arranged in tandem sets and one single "pusher." The two rear "pusher" propellers in the tandem sets are four-bladed and the others two-bladed. The total span of the wings is 123 feet, the length of the fuselage sixty feet and the height from keel to wing post twenty-seven feet six inches. It weighs 23,400 pounds.

RICKENBACHER, AMERICAN ACE OF ACES, JUST RETURNED FROM FRANCE, CLAIMS TO BE LUCKIEST MAN IN WORLD

After eighteen months of fighting on the western front, which won for him the distinction of being America's first ace, Capt. Eddie Rickenbacher has returned to devote his time to rousing the United States to the need of the greatest air force in the world. "Eddie" has sent twenty-seven enemy planes to the scrap pile. "It was mostly luck," he claims. "After seeing dozens of friends 'go west' and then coming out unscratched myself, I can not help but believe that I am the luckiest fellow in the world."

Capt. Eddie Rickenbacher with his sister, Emma, and his mother, Mrs. William Rickenbacher.

HEIGHT BRINGS NO TERROR

Airman Has a Feeling of Exhilaration and Healthfulness When "in the Clouds."

Some time ago I was walking in the country with a friend, when suddenly we heard a soft hum high overhead, says a writer in a British information bureau bulletin. It took us some time to find the tiny black speck, which looked no larger than a goat, far away in the blue.

"How awful it must be," my friend muttered, "to be at that ghastly height." And I smiled, as I remembered having once thought that myself.

As a fact one has no horror at height. The higher one is, the less real does the world beneath seem, the more stable and safe is the machine in which one is comfortably sitting. Height, regarded from a house-top, may be unpleasant. From 10,000 feet it is delightful.

The pure, sweet air at high altitudes stimulates, like wine, and the world beneath stretches away all round to the misty horizon, and looks like a gigantic snail map. I expected to feel giddy, if not dizzy, when I first went up and was amazed at the feeling of steadiness and stability.

One has no feeling of giddiness, once contact with the ground and stationary objects is broken, but only a sensation of singular health and happiness, and on coming down after a series of smooth spirals there is an amazingly strong feeling of "wanting to go up" again and taste once more the sweet, fresh air and delightful thrills of the new world.

"But what a dreadful noise the engine must make," I heard some one remark the other day.

Apart from the fact that the ears are covered by a warm leather flying cap there is, on the contrary, something very soothing in the even note of the motor, and after being in the air for some time it is rather apt to make one feel sleepy.

The higher the altitude, the stronger the feeling of exhilaration seems to become, and the world is apt to seem dull and drab when one descends again to slow plodding over the earth.

Early Prohibition in England.

Prohibition under stress of necessity does not first make its appearance in America. England before now has submitted to it. In the years of murrain and famine during the reign of Edward III, when the poor stole "tatte dogges" to eat, when "thieves that were in prison did pluck in pieces those that were newly brought amongst them, and greedily devoured them halfe alive," then we had prohibition. The king forbade all malling of corn for ale making, and so, we are told, greatly relieved the national distress. —London Chronicle.

DECIDED ON VERDICT BY LOT

Hawaiian Jury Couldn't Agree and to Settle the Matter Drew Slips From Hat.

Substituting the goddess of chance for the goddess of justice, a jury in the Honolulu circuit court a few days ago drew lots to decide the fate of 12 Chinese charged with gambling. The incident is without precedent in the annals of the courts of Hawaii, says the Waiuku (H. I.) Times. The jurors were discharged by the court and their action branded as "illegal, inexcusable and highly reprehensible."

According to the story told in court, the jury could not agree. Tired of the prolonged and fruitless efforts to reach a verdict, it was suggested that the balloting be abandoned and that they draw lots. Twenty-four slips of paper were prepared, 12 bearing the word "Guilty" and 12 "Not guilty." The slips were shaken up and drawn from a hat by the jurors, who had agreed that the first 12 slips of one kind drawn should determine the verdict. The "Not guilty" slips won and a verdict of not guilty was consequently returned.

Anthem Many Centuries Old.

The youngest of the nations has the oldest of hymns. Such is substantially the case. For while the independence of the Jewish commonwealth in Palestine was assured by declaration of the British government more than a year ago, that commonwealth is not yet organized to the extent that the Polish and Czechoslovak states are. Yet its prospective citizens, though still scattered far and wide throughout the earth, cherish as the chief of their anthems one whose weird and haunting melody dates back not merely generations or centuries but thousands of years. It is said to be the identical melody which was sung by Miriam and her companions to celebrate the crossing of the Red sea by the children of Israel and the destruction of Pharaoh's pursuing hosts.

Egyptians Fond of Pigeons.

Certain Egyptians carry on to a remarkable degree the business of raising pigeons. On one estate the 14 pigeon towers, each composed of about 1,200 clay jars, set one upon another. Each jar forms a comfortable house for the family of pigeons occupying it.

Pete, an army mule at a camp near Portland, Me., was left on an island in Casco bay. The soldiers built a shed for him and left food and water, but Pete got homesick. He kicked off the top of the shed, gnawed his halter until he was free, plunged into the sea, and swam back to the camp.

GIRL MARINES

Morning Drill

Headquarters Telephone Operators

100% Girls, These Marine Girls At Washington — Same Duties As Men Who Have Been Released for Duty in Europe

Copyright, 1919, The International Syndicate.

IT WAS 8.30 o'clock of a very dismal, foggy and rainy morning such as beautiful Washington, but seldom experiences, and the Ellipse, the parade ground, back of the White House was covered with frost, and muddy for all its grassy surface.

A burly policeman with a bicycle and special orders, stood guarding the little paths that cut the ground across, trying to keep the hurrying war-workers from cutting corner corners, and tramping the wet grass into the mud.

Despite his presence and warnings, however, beheld him, faintly outlined through the fog, stood two columns of figures. Smooth and straight columns they were, and before them one stern, lone figure stood like a statue of marble, facing the lines. Privileged characters, these!

"Ten-shun!" Through the fog came a stern and rasping command, "Ten-shun." The columns stiffened. "Right dress!" A snappy movement of heads to right, left hand to hip. "Front!" The next command, more raucous than the others. "Count off!"

Of course, one would expect, at such a command, the usual husky, masculine line, "One-two-three-four; One-two—" but instead there came, in high pitched feminine tones, "One-two-three-four; One-two-three-four." Firm, confident, snappy voices, for these "soldiers" were GIRLS!

"Forward, March!" (Officers never say "March.")

Like the well-drilled body they were, the forty girls in Winterfield uniform moved forward and behind them another and another, until four platoons had passed, each as snappy and correct as the former.

Girl Marines! The color of their uniform and the device on their hat told you that.

"Hup, two-three-four, left-right-left! Hup, two-three-four, left-right-left!" A commander pointed an accusing finger. "Snap out of your hop, there, you!" The line marched on and no one was angered. "Watch your step and pipe down that talking!"

On the way back to the office you could hear, "I like our commander best, he's so snappy and stern!"

100 Per Cent. Girls

In August, 1918, the Marine Corps sent out a call for girls to take the places of the lads at headquarters who wanted to leave that work, get over and mix in.

"However, we want none but one-hundred per cent. girls!" And from every nook and corner of the United States came answers; girls eager to become part of an organization rendering such splendid account of itself "over there," girls believing themselves to be one hundred per cent.

There were thousands of applicants.

Each girl was given a rigid examination; intelligence, health, ability, character, references, bearing (the same examination the men get), and but three hundred and seventy-six of them passed it. They are one hundred per cent. girls! They show it! They know it! They came to take men's places, therefore they ask no quarter and they get none.

In their work as in their drill the girl Marines accept discipline as the men accept it; render all military courtesies required of the men, and they are admonished without consideration for the fact they are girls and in private life, self-governing.

The Marine Corps believes thoroughly the body properly exercised is the body efficient in work and strong in resisting diseases. And, the mind trained to receive, interpret and execute a military command in a space of seconds is a mind clear, alert and ever ready in the working hour.

Not a few of the Marine girls left splendid positions back home to enter this patriotic war-work. There are some celebrities among them, too, who heard the call and knew they could be useful. Others have enrolled because the Marine Corps pays a much better salary for their line of work than any private concern ever paid. The short hours and unimprovable conditions, clothing furnished (that natty little uniform) from cap to toe, makes it, all in all, a good business proposition.

Various Duties

These young women take care of the Marines' business, his official affairs, giving him his credits, his promotions, his citations, and if he deserves it, his demerits. The fingers of the girl Marine are on every movement of every Regiment, Battalion, Company, man, at home, abroad, any time. And there is romance in it.

Each man is an interesting little story by himself. No two of them are alike, and the Marine girl handles many, many of them each day in her own little department. The case of a boy gone to France with his Regiment is brought to her attention.

Hundreds of questions pique her curiosity. Has this regiment seen action? Yes, there the number of the regiment and she knows that regiment was in, and in it right!

Was he wounded? Yes. His records tell her where, when and how. Immediately she takes an almost personal interest. She wonders if his mother knows. Yes, here is the copy of a telegram sent his mother the same day headquarters received the casualty cablegram from General Pershing. Here is the Mother's answer: She is glad her boy could give so much, and here is the letter to the Mother from the Major General Commandant himself, telling that proud mother how proud the Marines are of her boy and their boy, and the way he acquitted himself at Belleau Wood, Bourresches, Soisson or St. Mihiel.

The little mother in every girl leaps to the fore at times like this and the Marine Girl is no exception. A warm wave of sympathy, understanding, of help, surges through her. She has to force herself to "snap out of her hop" and get to the next boy, for his case is just as interesting, and his business just as urgent of her attention.

Take To Training Readily

It is quite a new thing for the officers and men of the Corps to be put in command of girls, especially the old-timers, but the fact does not prove as unpleasing as the idea was. They report that the girls learn the drills much easier than recruits, with the same amount of training. The men are growing used to the girls, and the unanimous opinion among officers in charge, that "girls are every whit as good in the offices as the men were," proves the girls are doing their work efficiently and conscientiously.

The girls are enlisted for four years and the other day threw their hats high into the air upon learning they were not to be discharged because the war is over, but be retained even as the rest of the Corps.

There will be no medals for bravery, citations or croix de guerre for them, and probably no commissions, but their promotions include Corporal and Sergeant ratings. It has been woman's duty always to serve silently in times of war, but her work is none the less important to the winning.

The Marine girl is making herself a corner in the Corps and there is no doubt, in the future, she will be just as necessary as the typewriter she works with!

The Navy Department has taken over the Hotel Vendome at Third and Pennsylvania Avenues, Washington, for these girls, and will make them a home, keep them entertained and happy.

Marine girls are decidedly satisfied with their lot and wouldn't go back home for anything. Besides, most of them are laying aside a nice little portion of their monthly earnings for no, not a rainy day, but, it could be a hope-box, for they will get out of the Corps some day, you know!
